DEAR COLLEAGUES,

It is with great pleasure that we invite you to ECAD XX-th Anniversary Mayors` conference in the city of Moscow, capital of Russia, May 13-15, 2013.

We stand stronger countering the evil of drugs together. Learning from international experience will triple our efforts in this task. ECAD Mayors conference of 2013 will underline the importance of international cooperation in practice.

Countering drugs has never been as acute as it is today. We are constantly seeking new ways of tackling unhealthy lifestyles that can be fatal to our children and to our lives in general.

Each state is engaged in solving an exacerbating globalisation of drug addiction. Each city has its own experience and methods of resolving drug issues.

One of the most efficient ways of finding a solution to the problem is to cooperate. We are convinced that by learning from each others` experience, sharing thoughts and ideas we can achieve the furthest goals possible.

Do you know that...

For eight centuries, Moscow had confronted waves of invaders, from Mongols to Napoleon to Hitler, and emerged victorious, though usually at a terrible cost. It was Ivan III who also set about constructing Moscow's most famous landmark, the Kremlin fortress. In the 1480s, he invited architects from Renaissance Italy, such as Petrus Antonius Solarius, to design the wall and its towers. He became Grand Prince of Moscow (then part of the medieval Moscovy state), expanding its territory and enriching the city. By 1500 it had a population of 100,000 and was one of the largest cities in the world.
